Herut Bid Rejected In Unruly Session

Jerusalem Post Knesset Reporter

WHILE Israel has not yet been able to solve its economic problems, the Knesset yesterday rejected a Herut bid to establish a new government.

The Prime Minister emphatically denied a charge by Mr. Moshe Begin (Herut) in the Knesset yesterday that the Provisional Government had approved of the landing and unloading of the Altalena in 1948 when the ship was still on the high seas, three days away from Israel.

Rejection of the Herut bid was a major blow to the Herut party, which had been demanding the resignation of the Provisional Government. The Herut bid was rejected by a vote of 10 to 1.

The debate on the Altalena took place in the context of a non-confidence motion in the Provisional Government. The Herut bid was rejected by a vote of 10 to 1.

The Prime Minister turned down a demand by Mr. Ben-Gurion that they both appear before a committee of three judges with all relevant documents.

Mr. Ben-Gurion did not think that the character of the Herut leaders in the Provisional Government was such that they could be trusted to handle the Altalena.

Mr. Ben-Gurion said that he would not accept the Herut bid to establish a new government. He said that the Herut bid was a challenge to the Provisional Government.

LAW REPORT

The Jerusalem Post January 13, 1959

In the Supreme Court Sitting as High Court of Justice

Before Justices Agmon, Ben-Zion, and Ben-Zion.

The Attorney General, Petitioner, v. Judge Avraham Eden & Another, Respondents.

Admissibility of Written Statements and Right of Cross-Examination in Preliminary Enquiries.

The High Court made partially absolute an order nisi calling on the first respondent to show cause why he should not reverse a decision given by him during the preliminary examination of the second respondent.

The second respondent was accused of committing several felonies carrying a punishment of more than ten years' imprisonment. He chose to appear at a preliminary enquiry in accordance with the Criminal Procedure Amendment (Investigation of Felonies) Law, 1953, Judge Eden, of the Jerusalem District Court, was appointed to conduct the enquiry.

The facts of the case above law provide that: 'The judge who holds a preliminary enquiry shall give the parties an opportunity to set forth their contentions and produce their evidence before him and he may decide (1) that the evidence affords prima facie justification for the charges; or (2) that there is no room for charging the accused in lack of evidence; or (3) (authorised translation).

The prosecution presented evidence which they considered sufficient to justify committing the second respondent to trial. This evidence included certain statements made to the police by various persons. The accused's Counsel wished to cross-examine one of these persons on the content of his statements. But the Jerusalem District Attorney objected to his cross-examination on the grounds that the Enquiry into Felonies Law did not grant an accused the right to conduct a cross-examination during a preliminary enquiry.

The accused's Counsel alleged, however, that the statement in question was false and that in accordance with Rule 20 of the Criminal Procedure (Investigation of Felonies) Rules, 1953, if the accused, or his Counsel, argues that the evidence presented by the prosecution is untrue, the examining judge may order the evidence to be proved orally.

Further, in the absence of any cross-examination, the court, the legislature must not be presumed, in accordance with the principle of interpretation, to intend violating a basic principle of law — and particularly one which invests an accused with a right of such importance as that of cross-examination.

A witness who has testified against him. This conclusion, continued Justice Agmon, further strengthened by the fact that in other instances the legislature has expressly provided for the courts have an interest in the intention of the legislature that any person who has given a written declaration or opinion may be cross-examined. It is not, Justice Agmon, a mere technicality, as the accused's Counsel argued, that the accused's Counsel wished to cross-examine one of these persons on the content of his statements. But the Jerusalem District Attorney objected to his cross-examination on the grounds that the Enquiry into Felonies Law did not grant an accused the right to conduct a cross-examination during a preliminary enquiry.

Most of Egypt's Jews Jobless

By TULLIA SEVI

ROME (INA). — The great majority of Egypt's 10,000 Jews are jobless since being thrown out of their jobs.

Chief Rabbi of Egypt, Haim Nahum, told me last week during the visit to Cairo of the Italian Premier, Mr. Amintore Fanfani.

Rabbi Nahum stressed that while the Jewish community is not subject to any religious discrimination whatsoever, it is rigorously persecuted economically. More than 90 per cent of the Jews have lost their jobs, he said.

The younger people are being forced to emigrate for lack of job opportunities, and only the old remain — this is the real tragedy of the Egyptian community, the Chief Rabbi began.

All of the Jews have moved to the large cities of Alexandria and Cairo, and the smaller communities have been liquidated.

Election H.Q.'s Being Set Up

Jerusalem Post Reporter

TEL AVIV. — The political parties are beginning to set up election headquarters and open their campaign fund appeals.

Mapai has chosen Mr. Y. Allon, M.K., to head its campaign and the Hashomer-Hahadar leader will shortly be elected to the Mapai Secretariat in this capacity. The Jerusalem Post learned here on Monday.

The General Zionists have chosen their National Secretary, Mr. Y. Tamiel, as their chief election executive. Herut is understood to be actively considering its deputy secretary, Mr. Y. Meridor, M.K., for the comparable post in that party.

Herut opened its I.L.M. election fund campaign last Thursday when the members of the Central Committee reportedly donated IL4,000.

The Progressive Party's Secretariat has also appointed its election committee for the elections to the Fourth Knesset. Its members are Messrs. Y. Cohen, M.K., Y. Artzi, H. Zeisel, Y. Shabtai, A. Ben-Tov and M. Y. Stern.

Shitrit Comes 1st in Local Mapai Ballot

Jerusalem Post Reporter

TEL AVIV. — Six of the nine delegates to the Mapai election committee for the party branch in the Florentine quarter here will be representatives of the younger generation. Five hundred members voted in the elections on Sunday.

The Minister of Police, Mr. B. Shitrit, came first with 278 votes.

polling day was held a week later than in the rest of the city because of the elections in the branch. Mr. Shitrit's success was attributed to his position as a neutral between the two factions, the Youth faction and the "Gush" faction. He was followed by Mr. Y. Aboulaia of the Youth faction and Mr. Y. Tamiel, leader of the younger generation, who failed in the election, again lost out.

Relief Workers Demand Jobs

Jerusalem Post Reporter

TEL AVIV. — Scores of relief workers demonstrated in front of the offices of the Ministry of Labour's Employment Service in Tel Aviv on Monday demanding permanent work for their 150 members who are fathers of large families.

Over 40 of the demonstrators succeeded in entering the building and stormed onto the second floor where they "breed for our children." They agreed to leave the building, however, after they were promised that a delegation from the workers would be received by Ministry officials on Wednesday.

The demonstrators were joined by the Secretary of the Beit Lid Labour Council, Mr. Nisim Dook, and by a representative of the local Labour Council, Mr. Ze'ev Spitzer. (Times)

'Matchmaker' Being Fired

Jerusalem Post Reporter

TEL AVIV. — The tourist guide who is claiming IL500 in "matchmaking commission" from Mr. Michael Walder, an American tourist who married a Tel Aviv model two weeks ago — is to be dismissed from his job. This was learned on Monday night from his employers, the Israel Tourist Service Corporation.

The guide, Emanuel Dehan, on Sunday obtained from the Magistrates Court a temporary injunction order prohibiting Mr. Walder from leaving Israel.

The son of a well-to-do Louisiana lawyer, Mr. Walder two weeks ago married Nurit Pilgrer, after seeing her picture on an Israeli travel folder. Mr. Dehan helped locate her.

The Government Tourist Corporation has intervened in the case and is understood to be putting pressure on Mr. Dehan to forego his claim. A hearing is scheduled on Tuesday between representatives of the Corporation, Mr. Dehan and his lawyer.

Mr. Walder told The Jerusalem Post on Monday that Mr. Dehan's claims were "blackmail and extortion." He said he would deposit IL500.

Citrus Sales Board Cancels Large Cargal Carton Order

Jerusalem Post Reporter

A renewal of the fierce dispute between the Citrus Marketing Board and the Cargal cardboard carton company is looming as a result of the decision of the C.M.B. not to order any cartons this season.

The decision of the C.M.B. was taken by majority vote on Sunday and reverses an earlier one of three months ago to order a million cartons for citrus exports during this season.

It is learned that Sunday's decision was adopted by a vote of 10-4, with the 10 in favor of the private sector voting in favor and the five Histadrut representatives and the three Government members voting against. Two Histadrut representatives abstained and one was absent from the meeting.

The earlier decision of the C.M.B. to order a million cartons was taken following the intervention of the Minister of Commerce and Industry, Mr. Y. Sapir, and the Minister of Agriculture, Mr. K. Lohr, in the dispute. This intervention followed the publication of the shared report on the packaging of citrus exports which in July, 1957, recommended continuing trial cartons at the rate of 10 per cent of all exports for two consecutive seasons.

A one-man Government committee was set up at the time to supervise these trial cartons and the C.M.B. was asked to cooperate by ordering a million cartons during both 1957/58 and 1958/59 export seasons.

Monday's decision came as a surprise to the Government, and Mr. Sapir stated that he considered the C.M.B. decision a breach of the agreement that had been reached with him and the Minister of Agriculture. He said that he was awaiting a complete report of the Board's meeting to be submitted with the Minister of Agriculture on the Government's reaction.

SERIOUSLY HARMED

Mr. Sam Dubiner, an owner of Cargal, told The Jerusalem Post on Monday that the Board decision would seriously harm Cargal's efforts to increase its exports. It has orders for eight million cartons from neighboring countries, he said. Cargal has not been approached by the C.M.B. since the original decision to order a million cartons, he said.

It is learned that representatives of the private sector on the Board argued that as no formal agreement was reached with Cargal, the earlier decision was not binding and was only an agreement in principle. They demanded further that a binding Government order be issued before the Board would agree to order more cartons, following the earlier decision. They also demanded a report by the Board on the situation.

How Dry Spell Withers Hopes

Jerusalem Post Reporter

Optimism among farmers created by last Wednesday's rains is evaporating in the wake of the renewed spell of dry weather.

The J.N.P., which resumed full scale tree planting operations the day after the rains fell, will again have to stop work if there is no further dew within the next week to 10 days, a spokesman said on Monday. Meanwhile J.N.P. afforestation is being carried out according to plan.

An official of the Jewish Agency Settlement Department declared on Monday that it rained fell in the next few days the situation "would not be good, nor would it be catastrophic."
